Dear General,

I was so sorry I was unable to say good-bye to you when I checked out at Langley in August of '74. I did stop by each time I was in town but, each time, you were away.

I am writing to you now to recommend to you a young man who is interested in a career with the Agency.

in what, for most of them, was their first on-the-job test of any consequence. I felt then that we were fortunate in having a first-rate group of young people. I feel that [] compares very favorably with the best of those I was associated with and I am pleased and confident to recommend him to you. He has the character and education to fulfill the serious responsibilities of Agency work.

[] and I are enjoying the leisurely life in Savannah. Naturally, we have sandblades and, as we read the headlines, we are saddened by the many unfair allegations directed against the Company. Perhaps, now, the worst is over.

We hope that you are well. If business or pleasure should bring you to Savannah — mi casa es su casa.

Sincerely,
